Satsuki Nakamura is Director for Clinical Services at IHP. She oversees all clinical programs and has responsibilities in client organizational development, as well as personnel and management development programs.

Nakamura-san received her nursing degree in Kagoshima, Kyushu, starting her career as a nurse in the surgical ward and operating rooms of a mid-sized acute care hospital. In 1991 Nakamura-san moved to Kanto (Tokyo region) and worked in the surgical, orthopedic and neuro departments of a mid-sized hospital where she was soon promoted to nursing supervisory roles. In 2003 she was assigned to establish the hospital's medical support center and was eventually given responsibilities to manage patient outreach, managed care programs, general patient consultation and home care services. In 2006 she became Director of Clinical Operations reporting directly to the hospital CEO (physician owner) and responsible for organizational development, clinical leadership training and strategic planning initiatives.

Nakamura-san is a Japanese licensed Registered Nurse with advanced degrees and certification in Nursing Management, Medical Information Management, DPC (Japanese Diagnostic Procedure Combination based payment system) Data Management, Home Care Services and Assisted Living Nursing. Nakamura-san is also an AHA ACLS Provider.
